Subject: questions regarding testing data

Rafael and Rob, we have reviewed the 30 day notice information and have questions about units that tested but have yet to submit their units for certification. We would like to know how the public can determine if companies have complied with the requirement to submit data to EPA within 60 days of testing per 60.537(f)? Also can we obtain emissions data from those units? We are not interested in the full test reports or design drawings but rather the test method used, fuel data (crib/cord/pellet; if cord what species, fuel charge weight), burn categories, and emission results for each of the testing category.

Your help with this request is greatly appreciated.

Thanks!
